We have included times for distances recorded for best performances by the National Union of Track Statisticians – 15 kms, 10 miles, half-marathon and marathon. Beyond these we show the ultra-distances in tens of miles up to 100 miles, tens of kilometres up to 50 kilometres, plus 100 kilometres and the three standard elapsed time runs of 6, 12 and 24 hours. Recorded elsewhere, but not published, are best times set at various other distances which are rarely run but which might crop up as intermediate times in major marathons.

&lt;sup>1</sup> Official intermediate times are marked +. Note that this 15 km time may not be as fast as the pace at which Birhan Dagne was running during her 55:50 10 miles run where, as far as we know, no intermediate 15 km time was taken but an estimation would indicate around 52:02.

&lt;sup>5</sup> Louise Cooper has a time of 3:41:56 set at the intermediate 30-mile point in a 35-mile race, but Sam Amend's time of 3:30.56 for 50 kms or 31.0686 miles supersedes that.
