

Attempting to record all the international performances of Belgravians has been time consuming but it is believed that almost all have now been tracked down. Researching the international outings of Belgravians representing countries outside of Great Britain & N. Ireland has been particularly difficult. As always, additional information and corrections will be welcomed.

Many Belgravians have represented their country – but were they Belgrave members at the time they donned national colours and what exactly constitutes an ‘international’? Our international honours boards at the club house give a good starting point but they don’t detail anything other than a name and a year, and they are not, in fact, entirely correct. It appears that a few names are displayed which should not be, while there are others missing.

We have classified an international performance as one where the athlete represents their country (including the home countries) in a meeting where a team score is calculated to give a match result: e.g. selection for a road race where an athlete represents their home country and a team result is published, is included; but a group of athletes wearing their national colours to compete in an ordinary overseas meeting is not, and nor is competition in a meeting designated the ‘... International Meet’ where there is no national team selection involved. Of course, all performances at major ‘games’ are included. It could be argued of course that an athlete’s performance when invited to compete in an event like the IAAF Diamond League easily outranks a great many of the international performances shown below – perhaps, in time, we will be able to record these elsewhere. We have included T&F meetings which fulfill the above criteria but have not been regarded as fully international by the National Union of Track Statisticians (NUTS) because not all events were catered for; these are marked *

International appearances by athletes before or after they were members of Belgrave Harriers are not included. Some names have appeared on the honours boards prematurely – notably during the period 1992-2001. It seems that on joining Belgrave H., if they had already gained international honours then their name may have been added to the board in their year of joining, even if they were not actually members on the date they represented their country.

There are now many more international matches involving the home countries than there were in earlier days. We have included all those where we have encountered a result; there may be some that we do not know about. We have not included representative honours for AAA of England.

From 1921 until 1932 British teams were styled ‘England’ although they were drawn from the whole of Great Britain & N. Ireland. Following the formation of the British Amateur Athletic Board, in 1932, teams were more correctly styled ‘Great Britain’.

The international governing body for athletics, formerly known as the IAAF – the International Amateur Athletic Federation (from 1912 to 2001) and International Association of Athletics Federations (from 2001 to 2019) – became known as World Athletics on October 19, 2019. In the identification of a competition the sequence number of the championship has been maintained throughout these governing body name changes. E.g. the 15th IAAF World Indoor Championships (in 2014) and the 19th World Athletics Indoor Championships (in 2024).
