The first ever ‘National’ Cross-Country Championship was held at Buckhurst Hill, Epping Forest in 1876, organized by Thames Hare & Hounds. Invitations had been sent to Birmingham Athletic Club, Spartan Harriers and South London Harriers, but there was the possibility of the race being additionally thrown open to any other cross-country club. In fact, just the three London clubs took up the challenge. With a total of 32 runners between them, in pouring rain, after the trail-layers had run out of paper to mark the way, every single runner went off course and the race was declared void.

The organizer, Thames Hare & Hounds founder member Walter Rye, made sure that successive races went off more successfully. Unsurprisingly, they were held in his club’s own territory, covering, variously, the areas of Wimbledon Common, Putney Heath, Malden, Morden, and other places that we know so well – although now covered by the suburbs of south-west London.

In 1883 the National Cross-Country Union was formed to ensure that Amateur Athletic Association laws were followed. It was also established that the race should be held in turn in the areas of the North, the Midlands, and the South. The more appropriate title of the English Cross-Country Union was assumed in 1933.

The current organizing body, the English Cross-Country Association (ECCA), was reconstituted in 1992 with the amalgamation of the former men’s and women’s bodies, the English Cross-Country Union and the Women’s Cross-Country and Road Running Association. However, under whatever banner the races have been held, they have almost always been known as the ‘National.’

Senior Men

After the initial influence and success of the Thames Hare & Hounds, and the formation of the NCCU, the balance of power in the sport shifted to the North and Midlands. And in over three decades leading up to the First World War, just a handful of times a team from the South prevailed over the might of the usual victors Birchfield, Salford or Hallamshire Harriers.

No championships were held from 1915 to 1919 due to the First World War and then, on resumption in 1920, Belgrave Harriers at last sent along a team to take part in the race in Windsor Great Park where King George V was scheduled to present the medals, specially struck at the Mint, and bearing his image; this was in recognition of all that the sport had done for the Services during the war. In fact, the King was not present on the day and Brigade General, the Earl of Athlone, took charge of proceedings. Unfortunately, Belgrave were unable to get more than five men home.

The Club’s first steps in the ‘National’ cross-country enterprise were tentative – a first complete team in 1923 was followed by a few more fallow years until the feat was repeated in 1928; but gradually the club’s fortunes changed, due in no small way to the leadership of inspirational Captain Bert Footer. A leap took the Club from ‘nowhere’ to 6th team place in 1930, to 3rd place in both 1933 and 1934, followed by a resounding win in 1935. The claret and gold colours were then never out of the medals until the break in competition caused by the Second World War. That 1935 victory was the first by a Southern club since Surrey Athletic Club took the title in 1914, and a second win came in 1939. When hostilities were over, the Club began the post war era just where it had left off seven years earlier with 1st - 2nd - 1st. Is it conceivable that such success could have been carried through sixteen seasons from 1933 to 1948, but for the war?

Under Footer that remarkable group of Belgravians trained and competed together for nigh on 20 years. Many years later, with competitive years long behind them, they were the men who organized Belgrave affairs, represented the Club on County, Area, and National bodies – and coached the young Club members of the ‘50s and ‘60s.

But such success as they achieved cannot last forever, and the ‘golden years’ were replaced by ‘solid’ ones until the arrival of Gerry North, the 1962 winner (in Blackpool & Fylde Harriers’ colours), who had migrated South and joined Belgrave. With Gerry’s impetus the Club was then rarely out of the top ten in the ‘60s, and for three years, from 1966, occupied that most melancholy of positions – 4th.

An era of ever-increasing field sizes during the ‘70s and ‘80s, saw the Club’s standing slowly sink away again. 1976 saw the club start an incomplete team for the first time since the ‘20s. Then, after a couple more unfortunate occasions when a scoring six could not be got to the finish-line in the ‘80s, in the ‘90s Belgrave occupied their lowest ever position of 105th, followed by a whole series of incomplete teams. These things go in cycles, however, and things were stirring again as the millennium was neared.

In 1999, much to the amusement of some, Belgrave, who were now mighty on the track & field and had been four times winners of the ‘National’ in the long-distant past, were awarded the trophy for the most improved club. They had soared from nowhere to 15th – and it would have been better still, but for overzealous officialdom ruling out a highly placed runner in the finishing funnel. Greater things still – even medals – were hoped for in 2000, forlornly as it turned out; but top ten positions and 'first Southern club' had been achieved again and eventually a fifth 'National' win was chalked up in 2004.

In early days, through to the beginning of the 1950s, the race distance was usually about 10 miles but sometimes extending to 11. It dropped to approximately 9 miles thereafter, and to 7½ miles or 12 kilometres in the '90s. Throughout most of the race's life there was a limit on the number of names allowed to be entered from each club. From these names only twelve were allowed to run on the day until 1929, when a team's complement was reduced to nine. Therefore, to finish nine to challenge for the Charles Otway Memorial Cup was a considerable achievement.

Until 1951 individuals were removed before calculating team scores. From that date onwards, other runners deemed to be ineligible for team scoring, for some reason, were sometimes removed. It could be that an athlete was not included on the original entry or, for a few years after 2000, simply that an athlete was not eligible to represent Great Britain & N. Ireland.

From 1996 any limit on the number per team allowed to be entered and to run was removed and this had the effect of hugely inflating the scores of teams whose 'scoring six' were further down the field.

Notes regarding the statistics:

Up to and including 1939 we often only know each runner's scoring position and not his actual position in the race. Where we have been able to find the actual positions then we additionally show this in brackets – e.g., for 1930, '17 (20) H.E. Footer'. From 1946 onwards (except for 1949) when we have a runner's actual position, we show this preceding the runner's name but where there are any differences between actual and scoring, we have included additional information to show how the team score was calculated – e.g., for 1946, 'scoring – 5, 11, 13, 21, 22, 24'. As alluded to earlier, from 1952 actual and scoring positions are almost always the same.

We need to remember that the restriction on those allowed to run, and indeed gaining selection for the limited number of entries in the first place, greatly affects our 'most runs' and 'most consecutive runs' in the individual statistics. It is far easier to enter those lists in modern times.

Junior / Under 20 Men

The Southern Counties Cross Country Association had held Junior Men's races before the Second World War, but it was not until 1946 that competition was offered for younger men at National level with the Youths' race for 16- to 18-year-olds. The Junior Men's race for those under 21 was initiated two years later. Age groupings have been adjusted since then, and the race is currently for those who were 17, 18 or 19 as at the 31st Aug/1st Sept.

Belgrave Harriers embraced the competition from the outset and only missed one competition in the first 40 years, with a considerable number of runners going on to represent the Club in Senior competition. In 1964 Club followers were delighted to be able to support three male teams in high-class action on the same afternoon as the Seniors came home 6th, the Juniors 5th, and the Youths 7th. This was not to become the norm, however, and despite some super top ten runs, individuals percolated their way into the senior squad while whole squads did not.

The '90s and first decade of this millennium often saw some truly outstanding individuals with no team to back them up – and sometimes no team at all! Indeed, the Club have not completed a team in the last 30 years or had a single competitor taking part in the last 10.

But over the years those 'truly outstanding individuals' have certainly given Club supporters something to enthuse over. In the 'National' the groundwork was laid for three-time Olympian John Bicourt to launch an international steeplechase career; the team of '83 contained John Gladwin, who went on to become one of the nation's fastest ever milers, and another international in Stuart Paton; three time Olympic 'chaser Justin Chaston turned out in each of his Junior years; we had race medallists Darren Mead and Kassa Tadesse – and of course stellar double victories from Nick Goolab.

Positions shown are mostly scoring positions. Where we have found actual positions, and they differ, we have additionally shown them in brackets.

Youths / Under 17 Men

As with the Junior age group, as soon as races for Youths were introduced in 1946 at the first championship after the Second World War, Belgrave Harriers wholeheartedly supported the competition — and immediately came away with a set of team medals. Sadly, that feat has not been achieved again, although we have come close in several eras. In 1980, for the first time, the Club failed to turn out any runners in the age group. In the 40 years since, on only six occasions has there been a Belgrave presence at all.

Originally the age-group was for those 16 to 18 years of age. Today it is for those who were 15 or 16 as at the 31st Aug/1st Sept.
